Peter Hanson Offers Apology To Judge Lowe

ADMITS HE MADE MISTAKE IN DECLARING OFFICIAL CONFERRED OVER REVENUE

Police Court Head Writes to The News and Denies Speaker's Assertion; Quotes Figures From Records

Peter Hanson, chairman of the civics committee of the Optimist club, today issued a written apology to F. H. Lowe, police judge, for having declared during a talk at the club's luncheon yesterday that "Last year Judge Lowe and some of the local officers conferred, during a stay of several days at Coronado, as to the means that were to be adopted to raise revenues from fines in Glendale, and the result of that conference is that today 95 per cent of the fines levied in Glendale are for revenue only."

After issuing his apology to Judge Lowe, a copy of which was given to The Glendale Evening News, Mr. Hanson declined to grant an interview for publication on the matter, saying that the apology to the city official covers the situation so far as he is concerned. The apology was handed to Judge Lowe by Dr. H. R. Boyer, president of the Optimist club.

Dr. Boyer, when interviewed after handing Mr. Hanson's apology to Judge Lowe, said that the judge refused to make a statement or to "commit himself in any way."

Judge Lowe, when questioned by a reporter for The Glendale Evening News, declared that he had no further statement to make, having expressed himself fully in his letter to the publisher of this newspaper and which appears in full in this edition.

The copy of the communication from Mr. Hanson to Judge Lowe, as given to The Glendale Evening News, follows:

"In a confidential report of the civics committee before the Optimists' club yesterday, it appears that the name of Judge F. H. Lowe was inadvertently connected with the Coronado conference of the League of California Municipalities that was held in September, 1923. I want to apologize to Judge Lowe, as he did not attend the conference."

Communication From Police Judge Lowe

Previous to the receipt of the apology, Judge Lowe conducted an investigation and learned, he stated, that the words used by Mr. Hanson were reported correctly in The Glendale Evening News. Thereupon Judge Lowe prepared a communication in which he declared that he did not attend the Coronado conference, and that he has not conferred with officials on a policy of raising revenues from fines. The judge's communication follows in full:

August 9, 1924.

Mr. A. T. Cowan, Editor and Publisher, Glendale Evening News, Glendale, Calif.

My Dear Mr. Cowan: My attention was directed to your issue of last night in which Mr. Peter Hanson was quoted as saying at a meeting of the Optimist club, "Last year Judge Lowe and some of the local officers conferred during a stay of several days at Coronado as to the means that were to be adopted to raise revenue from fines in Glendale, and the result of that conference is that today 95 per cent of the fines levied in Glendale are for revenue only."

I immediately called Mr. Hanson on the telephone and he denied having made such a statement. I then asked him, pursuant to his denial, if he would not make a correction at the earliest possible moment. After a very brief conversation Mr. Hanson declined to make a correction, stating that he was not interested. I then had a conversation with a prominent member of the organization, who stated to me that he had heard Mr. Hanson make the statement as published, and thereafter I conversed with three or four other prominent members, all of whom stated that while they were unable to remember Mr. Hanson's exact words, the published statement was substantially correct. This morning I telephoned your reporter, Mr. Lynd, who reported this meeting, and was assured by him that no mistake had been made; that his notes were made while Mr. Hanson was talking and the statement as published was the statement made by Mr. Hanson.

Says Statement Reflects On Officials

At this time I cannot conceive of a matter more outrageous in its character. If this statement was made, and I have reason to believe that it was, it imputes to the city manager, who is ex-officio the head of the police department of this city, the members of the City Council, the chief of police and myself, the basest possible motives, in that it charges the existence of a conspiracy on the part of these officials and myself to have the traffic officers of this city arrest motorists on the highways herein, regardless of their innocence or guilt, and have them hauled into this court and fined for revenue purposes only. It is needless for me to say that any attempt to besmirch the character of the men involved in any such manner will of necessity fail, because the law-abiding, respectable element of this city will not only consider the source, but the motive that prompted any such utterance.

Only once in my lifetime, and that was about twenty-five years ago, have I been to Coronado; only once in my lifetime, 1909, have I been to San Diego; at no time, with any body of men, with any individual, nor at any place, have I ever discussed, or been a party to any discussion that carried with it the thought that the police department and this court should be used for such base and damnable purposes. No member of the present council, and no member of the councils preceding them, nor any former city manager, nor the present city manager, has ever indicated to me that it would be desirable to use this court for such base and dirty work. At no time, with one exception, have I ever discussed with any official of the city of Glendale any plan to raise revenue for the city. That exception is, that about three years ago, when there was some agitation with reference to the necessity of increasing the electric light rates to raise revenue to properly carry on the public service and other branches of the city government, I did suggest to Councilman Davis and Mr. Van Wier, our city clerk, in an informal way, the advisability of the city

Auto Windshield Stickers at News For Safety Week

Motorists who believe that safe and sane driving, coupled with the exercise of care and caution on the road at all times, will tend to cut down the number of automobile accidents, and who desire to "tell the world" that they believe in The Glendale Evening News' Automobile Safety Week and the things it stands for, can obtain windshield stickers proclaiming Safety Week at the office of The Glendale Evening News, 139 South Brand boulevard.

World Flyers May Change Their Course

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—A 750-mile hop from Iceland to Cape Farewell at the southern tip of Greenland, was looked upon today by air service officials here as the best course to be taken by the American round-the-world flyers.

Reports received from Lowell Smith, commanding the flight, indicate that it will be virtually impossible either to establish a base at Angmagssalik because of the ice, or to refuel the airplanes at sea.

Officials here feel that the Cape Farewell is really within cruising distance of Reykjavik where the flyers are now waiting for the establishment of bases in Greenland.

The airmen have completed approximately three-fourths of their epic journey. They have between 6,000 and 7,000 miles to go. If they could get to Greenland and Labrador the balance of the trip would be plain sailing.

Armed Poses Seeking Murderer In Woods

BIRMINGHAM, Aug. 9.—More than 500 men, all heavily armed, today were searching the woods near Morris, Ala., for a negro who late yesterday attacked Mrs. Blaney Collins and her eight-months' old baby with an axe, inflicting wounds from which the child died this morning.

The mother lies in a local hospital in a dying condition.

EVERY MOTORIST KNOWS SAFETY WEEK IS COMING

Compelling Publicity In The Evening News Arouses Whole City To Action and All Drivers Are Ready To Obey Rules

All Glendale is in readiness to observe The Glendale News' Safety Week, August 10 to 16, inclusive. Representatives of the Automobile Club of Southern California say that The Glendale Evening News has secured and given more publicity to the week than ever secured by any newspaper anywhere. It is believed that, through the efforts of The Glendale Evening News, every motorist in Glendale knows about Safety Week.

Compelling publicity in The Glendale Evening News has forced other publications to recognize Safety Week.

Luncheon clubs, the Chamber of Commerce, merchants, churches and other organizations were quick to respond to The Evening News' invitation to join in the movement.

There is every indication that Safety Week will be a complete success and that it will be the means of impressing upon motorists and pedestrians—the need for more careful driving.

Show People Aid
The co-operation of Murphy's Comedians in The Glendale Evening News Safety Week plans from August 10 to 16 was demonstrated last night, when announcement of the plans to guard against accidents during this period was made from the stage of the big theatre at Stocker street, and when slips urging the participation of everyone, whether motorist or pedestrian, were circulated through the audience that jammed the theatre to witness the performance of "Why Men Leave Home," the current Murphy offering.

Gen. Wood Doubts Success Of Massacre Urged In Philippines

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 9.—Governor-General Wood admitted today that the insular authorities have received copies of a manifesto issued by the workers' party calling for a massacre of foreign land owners in the Philippines. He said he had heard rumors to the effect that a list of the intended victims had been received here.

"The movement may be serious," said Governor Wood, "but its success here is most doubtful because the condition of the Filipino laboring class is different from those of Russia. The struggle for existence among the proletariat here is far less acute than in Europe or the United States."

It was reported the manifesto originated with the "Third Internationale" and called for Philippine independence, overthrow of the present ruling class and that all capitalists be expelled.

NOTIFICATION DATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The night of August 15, twenty-four hours after the Republican notification ceremonies here, was decided upon as the time for President Coolidge's departure for Plymouth, Vermont, for a ten-day vacation. The president will be accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and their son John. They will be the guests of the president's father, Colonel John C. Coolidge.

SAID L. A. TOO TAME

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Maybelle Horton was granted a divorce here today after she told the court her husband, Harry, said Los Angeles "was too tame" and wandered away. She said he went to Tia Juana.

ADmits MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—Confessing, according to officers, that he murdered Amal Dupont in Delphos, Kan., by hammering him over the head with a monkey wrench, Leonard Peterson, 20, was prepared today to "face the music."

Guilty of Speeding!

The Glendale Evening News admits that it's guilty! In fact, this newspaper is well pleased to broadcast the information that its classified advertising columns are guilty of excessive speeding. And, right on the eve of Safety Week, too!

The Glendale Evening News, recognized as the speediest advertising medium in the San Fernando valley, has been notified to appear in the court of public opinion and receive a "sentence" of congratulations for having speeded into a new record.

HAVING SPEEDED ITS CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING COLUMNS 82 PER CENT AHEAD OF ANY OTHER PUBLICATION IN GLENDALE FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST TO DATE, The Glendale Evening News pleads guilty with a clear conscience, knowing that its speed of 82 per cent in advance of any other publication means that the court of public opinion will render the verdict that this newspaper has speeded up business generally, and, therefore, is entitled to a "sentence" of congratulations.

Yes, folks, The Glendale Evening News is guilty of speeding! Eighty-two per cent in the lead of any other publication in classified advertising for August to date. Honk! Honk! HONK!

IS A RIDE WORTH THE RISK?

PUBLIC SERVICE DEPARTMENT
AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

ATTENTION, Fathers and Mothers!

The news dispatches recently contained an account of a most regrettable accident which occurred on one of our Southern California highways in this manner:

A truck driver, out of the kindness of his heart, stopped and picked up three children, to take them on their way to school, and the unexpected occurred! Either some part of the truck broke, or the vehicle skidded, and went into the ditch. When the truck started to turn over, the driver attempted to rescue his precious passengers, and was successful with two of them, but the third was pinned under the truck and its little life snuffed out.

If your children have been in the habit of begging for rides on the highway, you should bring this matter forcefully to their attention, and explain to them why it is dangerous for them to do this.

You do not want them to ride with any but careful drivers. Yet when they beg for rides promiscuously on the highway they may be picking out the most reckless driver on the road to convey them to their destination.

For this reason, if for no other, you should do everything in your power to discontinue the practice. Do not only tell your own children, but set an example by protecting other people's children, and, ignoring the desire in your heart to give them a lift, pass up the children on the highway.

In addition to doing a service to them, you are protecting yourself, for, in case an accident occurred—even though you had exercised all your diligence and care, you would be personally liable for any injury that might occur to your passenger.

Figures Show Big Need Of More Careful Driving

The extreme seriousness of the automobile accident situation, and the need for the forthcoming Safety Week instituted by The Glendale Evening News, is brought home to every thinking person by the figures on accidental fatalities, as compiled by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

These figures show that automobile accidents in Los Angeles county during the calendar year of 1923 claimed 455 fatalities, as compared with 340 fatalities for the calendar year of 1922.

Auto Tragedies Lead

During the entire year of 1923, 1,016 met death from accident within the county, the figures show, as compared with a total of 740 during the year 1922. Next to motor vehicles, industrial plants claimed the highest toll, taking 210 lives during 1923, as compared with 67 lives during 1922. Electric railways took 63 lives in 1923, and 62 lives in 1922. Steam railways took 14 lives in 1923, and 29 lives in 1922. The total of those meeting death from burns, drowning, asphyxiation, falls, poisoning, firearms and all other accidental causes was but 274 in 1923, and 242 in 1922.

Economic Losses
These figures represent the loss of life. But in years of usefulness wiped out and in economic loss involved in this high total of

ACCEPT GIFT OF FIVE-ACRE PARK

'Million Canaries' In Colony
On Site Presented to
City of Burbank

BURBANK, Aug. 9.—The City Trustees have formally accepted the five-acre park "of a million canaries" recently donated by the Taft Realty company, through the good offices of L. H. Boydston, local manager.

A map of the park and the surrounding locality with the suggested changes in the streets so as to preserve the grove of trees, was presented by Mrs. Margaret Yale and explained by herself and Mr. Boydston. According to the revised plans, the park will be of a diamond shape, Monterey street branching out on each end of the park, forming the diamond. In this way thirty of the fine trees are preserved.

Beautiful Trees

Mrs. Yale was very enthusiastic about the park and intimated that the city is to be congratulated in being able to secure it without cost. She said that the trees are large and beautiful, some of them being as old as a hundred years. A dwelling house is on the land which she said could be remodeled into rest rooms. There is also a fine well of water on the land, and what seems to be particularly pleasing Mrs. Yale is the presence in the park of a colony of "about a million" little yellow canary birds which she believes should be properly taken care of and preserved as part of the park's attractiveness.

After a very pleasant trip of three months' duration, Rev. and Mrs. Bickers and three sons are at home, which news will be received by the members of the congregation of the Holiness church, with much pleasure.

The travelers visited in Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and Kentucky, where they have many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hodges and children, of Los Angeles, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Nottley of 102 Central avenue, coming out and spending the day.

Pershing Starts His Final Tour as Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—General John J. Pershing left Washington today for his farewell tour of the army. He will inspect the citizens' military training camps from New York to Denver and will then return to the capital to complete final plans for the defense day mobilization test on September 12. This tour will be the last one which he will make of the nation's camps, as his military service will come to a close on defense day. He will spend a few days with relatives in Lincoln, Neb., after the tour.

for its attractiveness, but the service and especially the home-cooked food have a great drawing power, and the "Kopper Kettle" is fast becoming a rendezvous for families because of the wholesomeness of the food and the dainty manner in which it is served.

Chicken Dinners
The "Kopper Kettle" special chicken dinners on Sunday and Wednesday are attracting a huge patronage, as well as the delicious steak dinners which are served on Saturday evenings, and if this patronage increases we predict a forced enlargement of the present quarters, which now occupy the entire first floor of Mrs. Hubbard's spacious residence.

The popularity of this tea room has spread so rapidly that many of the leading clubs of the city hold their banquets at "Ye Kopper Kettle," and a special room is retained for this purpose.

Plans for an airplane flight from New York to Peking, China, were announced recently.

PLAN EXTENSIVE ROAD PROGRAM

Fifteen Miles of Improved Highways Are on List Of City Engineer

Road work now under way or contracted for within the Glendale city limits involves a total cost of approximately $1,250,000, and, when completed, will offer motorists fifteen miles of new or remade highway, according to Benjamin F. Dupuy, city engineer. This work represents twenty-four separate jobs, the highest being for the improvement of Central avenue, which is to cost approximately $270,000.

Road work completed within the Glendale city limits since the first of the year involves an additional expenditure of $812,312.86. Mr. Dupuy states, and represents approximately ten miles of highway now in use. Of this work, the two most important jobs completed are Colorado boulevard, from east city limits to west city limits, at a cost of $203,000; and Glendale avenue, from Monterey road to San Fernando road, at a cost of $168,000. Another important improvement completed since January 1 is Glenwood road and other streets in the northwest section, at a cost of $107,000. All this work has been completed and paid for, according to Mr. Dupuy, and, in addition, Windsor road, Acacia avenue, Garfield avenue, Fourth street and many other streets have been improved.

Road Work Program
 The road work involved in the $1,250,000 program now under way comprises Sycamore canyon road, from Sinclair avenue to Acacia avenue, at a cost of approximately $200,000; Central avenue, from Broadway to San Fernando road, at a cost of approximately $270,000; Elm avenue and other streets in the Grand View section, at a cost of approximately $125,000; Kenilworth avenue, at a cost of approximately $75,000, and Hermosa drive and other streets in the Verdugo Woodlands section, at a cost of approximately $172,000.

Of these improvements, the most important now actually in progress, according to Mr. Dupuy, is Sycamore Canyon road. This road is at present being graded, and will be paved and in operation by the end of the year, thus realizing a long-anticipated ambition of residents in the eastern section of the city.

Improve Central
 Perhaps the most important street in Glendale remaining to be improved is Central avenue, states Mr. Dupuy. When completed, early in the spring of 1925, this will afford a wide north and south boulevard straight from San Fernando road to the beautiful foothill section of the city, greatly relieving traffic on Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue, he feels, as well as serving to stimulate the building of homes in the foothill section.

The most important piece of road work within the city limits that has not yet been contracted for is the improvement of San Fernando road its entire length of five miles from north to south city limits. This, Mr. Dupuy has estimated, will cost approximately $700,000, of which $60,000 has been pledged by the Los Angeles county board of supervisors. Opening and widening proceedings for this important highway are now being prepared by the city engineering department, he states. ### Doctor Will Address Chapel Congregation

Dr. J. F. Steele of Los Angeles, formerly of Ventura, is to speak Sunday night at Bethel chapel at 633 East Colorado street. He will tell why he left his profession to become a minister.

LIGHT STANDARDS BEING INSTALLED

City Making Improvements On East Broadway; Plan Additional Work

Ornamental street lighting standards are now being installed on East Broadway from Everett street to the east city limits, announces Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production. The standards are a product of the Union Metal Manufacturing company, he states, and are an exact duplicate of the specimen standard now on exhibit outside the Elks' club on East Colorado boulevard.

There is also on exhibit outside the Elks' club a standard manufactured by the American Cement Products company and known as the Marbelite standard. Both are of the two-light type and are illuminated each night, Mr. Diederich states, so that the people of Glendale may note their appearance when in service and compare the merits of the two types.

Standards Cost $32,750
 The cost of the Union metal standards now being installed on East Broadway will be $32,750, exclusive of incidentals, according to Mr. Diederich. Standards of the same type are to be placed along Glendale avenue, from San Fernando road to Monterey road, at an approximate cost of $86,300; and along Central avenue, from San Fernando road to Broadway, at an approximate cost of $61,000.

Marbelite concrete standards of the one-light type, smaller than those now on display outside the Elks' club, are now being installed on Cypress street, from Glendale avenue to Oakridge street; and on Cottage Grove avenue, Briar lane, Reynolds court and Ardmore avenue. These standards are similar to those on Cypress street and Oakridge street, in the Oakridge tract, states Mr. Diederich.

Plan More Lights
 Work on installing ornamental street lights along San Fernando road, North Maryland avenue and other important Glendale streets will undoubtedly go forward as soon as the improvements are made, he states, the policy of the department being to install no lights that will later have to be moved.

"We believe it is the ambition of the people of Glendale to have this the best lighted city in the San Fernando valley," Mr. Diederich says, in commenting on the street lighting situation. "Any city as near Los Angeles as Glendale must be considered in the metropolitan area and taxpayers are recognizing the value of adequately lighted streets."

Make Model City
 "It has been and will be the aim of this department to make this city a model of street lighting efficiency, a city no motorist can drive through at night without receiving a favorable impression. Unfortunately we are at the present time confronted by a critical light shortage, making it necessary to cut the illumination on all standards, however, only temporary, and by next year Glendale should be a well lighted city at night."

At the present time the five-globe standards on Brand boulevard and Broadway are being operated at a 60 per cent reduction, according to Mr. Diederich, and the new standards now being installed on East Broadway and other streets in the city should be in operation until the shortage is over.

Chief Lankford at Convention Banquet

Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department and Mrs. Lankford, of 1320 1/2 Glenwood road, were among the 700 guests last night of Chief R. J. Scott of the Los Angeles fire department, at a banquet and dance held at headquarters station, No. 3, 217 South Hill street, Los Angeles.

There were a number of speeches by visiting chiefs and commissioners, following which a motion picture was shown depicting the progress of the Los Angeles fire department in personnel and equipment, from the days of fire bucket brigades to the present time. The nineteen new stations installed under the recent bond issue were also shown, Chief Lankford reports.

This banquet and dance followed the close of the thirty-first annual convention of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs, held at the Maryland hotel, Pasadena, August 5 to 8, President Charles E. Foster, chief of the Astoria, Ore., fire department, presiding.

Searches for Leak With Match; Bang!

Mrs. Mary Byrd of 463 West Vine street narrowly escaped serious injury at 6:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when she caused an explosion in looking for a gas leak with a match. The Glendale fire department was called and the blaze extinguished with practically no damage. The alarm was relayed from the Glendale office of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, states Chief A. H. Lankford.

Earlier in the afternoon a stubborn blaze at the city dump on San Fernando road, south of Colorado boulevard, kept Engine No. 5 on the scene for three hours and caused 2000 feet of hose to be laid. At one time the fine stand of eucalyptus trees bordering the dump was menaced, but the firemen succeeded in holding the blaze within bounds and finally extinguished it.

Railroad Men Plan For Vacation Tours

J. C. Sams, ticket seller at the office of the Southern Pacific company, 106 North Brand boulevard, will leave August 15 for a two weeks' vacation tour which will embrace cities in the Bay region. Walter Bowers, assistant agent, will start his vacation on August 29, and H. J. Legrand, ticket agent, will leave Glendale September 27, for a two weeks' tour of California.

New Busses to Cover Yosemite Valley Run

P. L. Beemer of Los Angeles, general agent for the Yosemite Valley Transportation company, called upon Arthur J. Rehbold, traveling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, and H. J. Legrand, ticket agent, at the Glendale offices yesterday, to display one of the new busses built for Yosemite Valley Transportation company and the Southern Pacific. The bus, with a seating capacity of twelve, and carrying capacity for considerable baggage, will join the large fleet at Yosemite, Mr. Beemer said. The bus was built in Los Angeles, and is making a tour of Southern California cities before being driven to Yosemite. Some of the busses operated by the company carry as high as thirty-six passengers, Mr. Beemer said.

Painting of Canyon Hangs In S. P. Office

A canvas depicting the American River canyon, from the brush of B. J. Fray, noted artist of San Francisco, has been received by Arthur J. Rehbold, traveling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, and is now hanging in the company's office at 106 North Brand boulevard. The picture is a work of art, the painter catching the beauties of nature in the fall, when the vivid colors of the trees blend harmoniously with the soft mountains in the background.

PARIS HEARS OF CYCLONE IN L. A.

Glendalians Touring French Capital Read 'Grewsome' Details of Storm

There was but one disconcerting incident in the European trip enjoyed during the spring and summer by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Peirce and daughter, Patricia, of 317 West Vine street, who arrived home yesterday, and that was the startling news item they read in the Paris Herald of a terrific cyclone in Los Angeles that was reported to have killed fifty-two people and caused millions of dollars' loss of property.

The Peirces were traveling with Mr. Peirce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Peirce, also of Glendale, who are now visiting in Boston, Mass. Mrs. Theodore Peirce relates that they were just leaving Paris for London when Mr. Peirce bought the Herald and on the front page read a convincing column about the Los Angeles cyclone.

Cyclone Missing
 He was so disturbed that he sent a radio message to business associates in Los Angeles and received a cablegram in reply, "Unable to locate cyclone."

Leaving Glendale last March, shortly after the daughter, Patricia, suffered a broken leg, the Peirces crossed the continent and sailed on the Italian liner Conte Rosso for Italy. They were in Italy ten days before Patricia was able to walk.

Their itinerary included Naples, Pompeii and nearby towns; Rome; a motor trip through the hill towns to Florence and on to Venice, Milan, Lake Como, Genoa, Italian Riviera, Nice and Monte Carlo.

Meet Glendalians
 Motoring through Southern France they stopped at Grenoble to visit with Dr. and Mrs. Nat Green of Glendale, who are attending the university there. Later they visited Paris and then crossed to London and took a trip about the English and Scotch lake country.

The trip home was made on the Hamburg-American liner Reliance, arriving in New York July 19. After a visit in New York and made, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Peirce and daughter left Mr. Peirce's parents in their former home city, Boston, and came west by the Canadian Pacific, stopping at Lake Louise. From Seattle, Wash., south they made the trip by boat to Los Angeles.

Local Station Saves Time for Travelers

Residents of Hollywood, Pasadena, Eagle Rock and Glendale are gradually becoming acquainted with the facilities offered the traveling public through the new Glendale station, recently completed by the Southern Pacific, and the business of the station is showing big gains each month, declared Arthur J. Rehbold, traveling passenger agent for the railroad. The traveling public has found that considerable time can be saved by using the Glendale station instead of going to Los Angeles to board trains, or ride into Los Angeles and then motor to their homes in nearby cities, he said.

An added service, Mr. Rehbold said, is the installation of a direct telephone line between Glendale and San Francisco. Persons wishing Pullman reservations on San Francisco can learn within a few minutes after calling at the ticket office whether the space will be available, he said.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, is to preach a sermon Sunday night as a memorial to Mrs. Mary K. Phillips and Peter N. Harding, both of whom died during the past week at an age past the 80-year milestone.

Mrs. Phillips was one of the oldest members of Mr. Edmonds' church. He officiated at both her funeral and that of Mr. Harding. Mrs. Phillips was 87 years and 2 months old at the time of her death, and Mr. Harding was 81 years. Mrs. Phillips was a member of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club.

The subject chosen by Mr. Edmonds for his sermon is "The Recording Angel," and the Scriptural text is from Psalms 87:6 "The Lord shall count when he writeth up the people."

'GEORGE HAS IT,' FARRIES' SLOGAN

North Dakota Publisher Buys Stationery Business of C. H. Kirkman Co.

One winter and part of another spent in Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. George Farries of this city was the best place to settle and to engage in business, and the purchase of the stationery business conducted by C. H. Kirkman company at 141 South Brand boulevard was the result of this decision.

Mr. and Mrs. Farries spent the winter of 1922-23 here and part of last winter, returning to their home in Williston, N. D., to sell out his newspaper and printing and office supply business there in March. They returned to Glendale on July 1 and assumed charge of their new business here on August 1, adopting as the firm's slogan, "George Has It."

The family has secured a residence at 526 West Lexington drive and two of their sons are here with them, one of them being engaged in the California bank in Los Angeles and the other graduated from the Williston High school before coming to Glendale. Another son is studying at the Georgia Tech at Atlanta, but Mr. Farries expects to enter him at the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, while a fourth son is employed with a large lumber company in the northern part of the state.

Artist's Friends Are Present at Recital

A select audience of personal friends was entertained last night by Miss Bessie Long, student of the Emerson School of Self Expression, with a program of readings and numbers by assisting artists at the studios, 730 South Glendale avenue.

In the miscellaneous group by the reader were "The House By the Side of the Road," by Foss; "Aunt Shaw's Pet Jug," by Day; "Kittens and Babies," "The Patriot" and "Up at a Villa—Down in the City," by Browning, and an encore, "Don't You Be What You Ain't."

A costume group, "On the street Car," by Parker; "Making Reuben Propose," by Bitney; "Mrs. Trouble's Troubles," by Parker; and "Down With the Men," by Ware, were highly entertaining. The closing number, "Taking Care of the Baby," was a humorous sketch, combined with a classic piano number.

Another feature was the vocal numbers by Mrs. Ina Mitchell Butler: "Pale Moon" (Logan), "Florian Song" (Godard) and for encore, "Philosophy" (David Emmell). Mrs. J. C. Baird of 516 Raleigh streets, assisted as accompanist for the singer and reader.

Miss Viola Gaylor, danseuse of Los Angeles, danced the Mexican "La Jota" in native costume. At the close of the program, Miss Long was tendered an informal farewell reception, as she is leaving tonight for her former home in Columbus, Ohio. She is planning to return to Glendale in the autumn, and will resume her studies in the Emerson school.

ALLEGED SPEEDER PLEADS OWN CASE

Obtains Acquittal at Hands Of Jury After Entire Day In Court

An interesting case occupied the entire day Friday in Judge Lowe's police court, wherein F. D. Warner of 207 West Maple street, real estate operator of the La Cresenta district, was acquitted by a citizens' jury of the charge under which he had been arrested of driving his car on Verdugo road below Montrose at a speed of 41 miles an hour when 35 miles per hour was the legal limit. The case was hard fought by both sides all day, and did not go to the jury until late in the afternoon.

Mr. Warner elected to appear in his own behalf, plead his own case and offer his own testimony—as any citizen under the circumstances has a right to do. The testimony on the part of the prosecution was offered by two motorcycle patrolmen, Hutton and Collins, and on the part of the defense by Warner and William Clark of Glendale, whose signal for a ride Warner had responded to just previous to the time when the officers first observed Warner's car.

The case devolved on two points, first as to whether or not the officers were in plain sight on the highway at the time of the arrest, or whether they were in hiding, and secondly, as to whether the speed of the car definitely testified to both by Mr. Warner and his witness should be regarded as the true speed, or whether the speed as testified to by the officers should be considered correct.

Under the laws of this state, in order that the testimony of offi-

This week we broke ground on our first two homes in Rossmoyne, the first on Mountain Drive, west of Rossmoyne avenue, and the second on Rossmoyne avenue, just north of Stocker. We have plans and specifications for our third house, which will be built in the "Ellipse" facing west on Rossmoyne avenue, a home of rare beauty, consisting of eight large rooms and three baths, being 66x52 in size, and of Flemish architecture. Nothing has been spared to make this a jewel, as it will crown the finest residential location in Glendale. In this "Ellipse" we plan to build twenty high class homes, which, in time to come, will stand out as the best, not only in Glendale, but in Southern California.

We invite you to inspect these plans and specifications as we progress in our building program, which calls for the erection of fifty high class homes in Rossmoyne, and if interested, offer such suggestions as will be necessary to meet your individual requirements.

BILLBOARDS VS. NEWSPAPERS

The extent to which outdoor advertising has grown is an example of what can be accomplished by a combination of organization, vision, service and expert workmanship. A recent tour of inspection of the Foster & Kleiser studios and workshops by the editor of The Glendale Evening News was both enlightening and interesting.

The Los Angeles branch of the firm, one of nine on the Pacific coast, is a complete organization in itself. The company's own artists design the advertising, flowers and shrubbery for the landscape effects are raised in their own nurseries, their billboards are illuminated automatically by a complicated device.

The advertisements are designed on miniature billboards for the O. K. of the customer before being transferred to the big steel plates that are then fitted into the neatly painted and decorated frames that stand beside the streets and highways. Before the plate is finally put in place the customer is taken to the location for a final inspection, where he is shown just how the sign will appear to passers-by.

When the advertiser stands on the spot where his sign is to be erected, he gets an idea that is concrete. There is his advertisement, he can see it plainly, read the words—necessarily limited in this kind of advertising—and get the beauty and appeal of the design. It is very evident to him, also, that the passer-by can get the message the same as he can. No imagination is required. The billboard is there before him.

But, if the advertiser is a successful business man—and he must be or these big companies would not seek to sell him space on the billboards—he has the power of imagination. He can see things with the eye of the mind, things that are not before him in the concrete, as this billboard is. This man can see in imagination, his advertisement in a newspaper; for instance, in The Glendale Evening News. He can see his advertisement on 7000 newspaper pages, miniature billboards, in the hands of 30,000 to 35,000 people. He can see these thousands scanning the pages of the paper and reading his advertisement, as plainly as he can see the motorists along the street and highway reading his billboard sign.

Without the power of imagination, the advertiser cannot see his newspaper advertisement being read by the multitudes, because he cannot be taken into every home where the paper goes. Hence, he may be led to believe that billboard advertising is superior to newspaper advertising.

Outdoor advertising companies have experts in every department of their business. It is necessary to have art work that will be attractive, and that will register instantly, for the motorist, traveling along the street or highway from ten to fifty miles an hour, does not stop to read the signs. He must get the appeal in an instant, if he gets it at all. Of course, the buyer pays for the services of all these experts, but he is glad to do so, for, without them this kind of advertising would be useless.

A newspaper advertisement should be attractive, too, but here more attention must be given to composition and detail. A buyer or a potential buyer wants facts. A name and a slogan and a picture are good advertising points, but when a man is going to buy, he wants definite information about the quality of the goods and the price he will have to pay.

Not all newspaper advertising is as effective as it could or should be, by any means, but when a billboard advertisement and a newspaper advertisement are of the same quality, the newspaper message has a great deal in its favor. Many more people see it, and they see it when they are at leisure, and possibly are looking for it, and not when they are out on a business or pleasure trip. Many motorists, passing through Glendale, may see a billboard advertisement of a Glendale merchant, and yet never come to Glendale to trade. An advertisement in The Glendale Evening News is seen almost exclusively by those who are really or potentially buyers in Glendale stores. The successful business man uses many forms of advertising. He leaves no stone unturned to keep his business before the people. If he is led to believe that outdoor advertising is more effective than newspaper advertising, it is really the fault of the newspapers themselves (both large and small), for, on the whole, they do not seem to have the vision of their own usefulness that they should have.

REAL ESTATE BUSINESS ON HIGH PLANE

A few years ago some real estate men, especially in this section of the country, had not the best of reputations and were the subject of ridicule and invective for their business methods which were claimed at times not to be any too honorable. This was another case of the innocent suffering with the guilty, for it was only a small per cent of California's large army of real estate dealers who used questionable methods in dealing with the public.

One of the splendid results of organization is seen in the change that has been brought about in this respect. Real estate men organized and established high standards of business conduct for members of their profession. Those who did not do business according to this code soon found it advisable to seek other methods of earning a livelihood. Honest, business-like real estate dealers saw the harm that was being done by a few and cleaned up the profession.

The remarkable growth of Southern California has in a large measure been due to the real estate dealers, their splendid methods and their honorable dealings.

But it is to be expected that there would still be a black sheep or two in the fold. An instance is related of an old woman who had no knowledge of the value of her property and who placed it in the hands of a real estate dealer (not in Glendale) to sell for her. He made a bargain to get $3600 for her, he to have all he could realize above that sum. He sold the property for $6600 and had a nice little commission of $3000. He was in his rights; the transaction was legal. But he was morally wrong, and very few real estate dealers would take advantage of a client, especially an old woman, in that way.

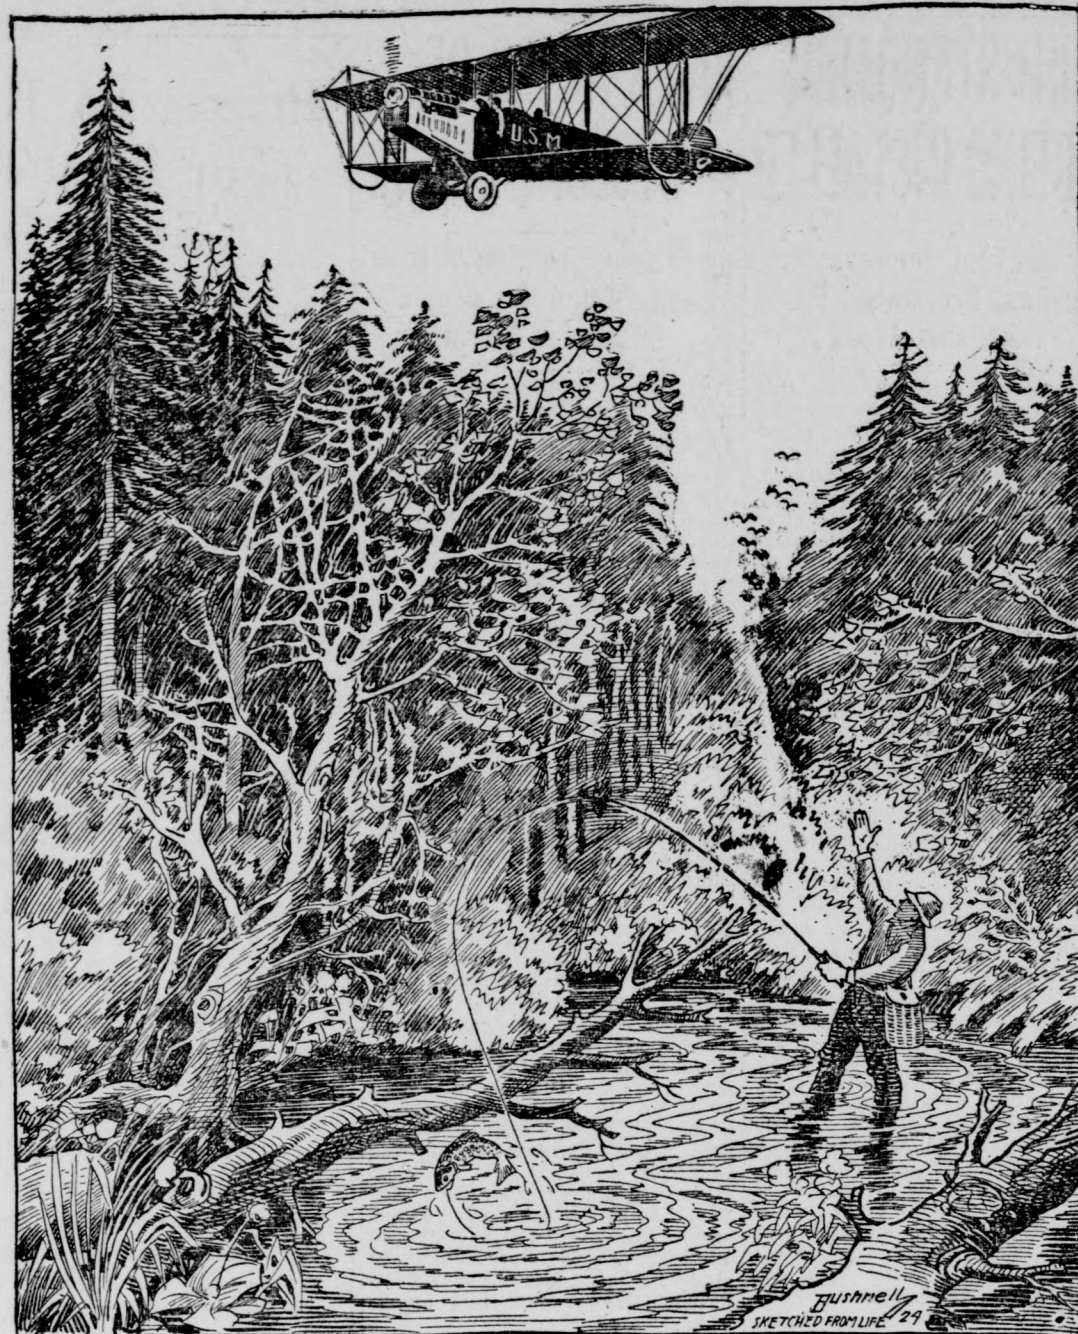

A Sunland girl was recently given a bridal shower, but she didn't mind. She had just had her head shingled.

He is retired now, but as a soldier Major General Lansing H. Beach is said to have had plenty of sand.

No wonder truth wears a black eye most of the time; think how often she's crushed to earth.

A NEW THRILL FOR THE SUMMER VACATIONER

The Passing of the New York-San Francisco Daily Mail Plane

Alert

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Alert is one of the words which we have taken from the Italian. It means wide awake. It is the opposite of absent-mindedness.

It is the sense of being alive to one's environment and it is that sense we lose when we are going to sleep.

It can best be expressed in English by the words "wide awake."

The alert-minded are those who know best what is going on around them. Alertness of mind is sought by those who are in executive positions, who have something to do, and whose business it is to deal with the exigencies of occasions. Its opposite is sought by the thinkers who deal, not so much with that which exists around them at present, as with the causes of things.

We speak, therefore, of the absent-minded professor whose mind is far away in experiments that have but an indirect bearing upon the present, and of the nimble-witted street arab, whose business it is to dodge taxicabs and seek a precarious living in the come and go of the street.

For those who would qualify themselves, therefore, for executive positions, alert-mindedness is to be sought, while the ruminative and meditative virtues are more to be desired by those whose business it is to think.

Alert-mindedness is on the surface. Its value, therefore, depends upon the amount of thinking that has gone before it.

After all, when we are in a crisis and we desire something done it is to the absent-minded, woolly-haired professor that we turn.

What to do is not always to be determined by the people who are doing but by those who are thinking what is best to do.

Always the business men of the world have turned to the John the Baptists, to the "voice of one crying in the wilderness," to find the underlying truths of the universe.

Both kinds are necessary. It is necessary for one group to retire from the world and to think out its problems in silence and just as necessary for the other group to be constantly present-minded and deal with whatever may happen.

Horoscope

Contrary planetary influences rule this day, according to astrology. While the Sun and Jupiter are in benefic aspect, Mars is strongly adverse.

This is a sway under which to seek support on any sort of a project. It should be especially fortunate for the aspirations of political candidates.

All who seek employment should use each shining minute today, for persons at the head of large corporations are supposed to be so well inclined toward humanity that even their department managers are kindly.

Under this direction of the stars both men and women are likely to become sanguine and for this reason this should be an important date in the national campaign.

Jupiter today smiles on business men. Bankers and manufacturers should benefit greatly.

Mars is in a place read as threatening disputes between the United States and other powers.

After the autumn ingress the government may face at least one embarrassing international problem.

All the planetary vibrations appear to be inimical to serenity and individuals may reflect disturbed world conditions in a manner provocative of quarrels.

Serious dissensions within political parties will be numerous from this date on, the seers predict, and women will be the cause of some grave complication.

Many deaths from drowning will mark this season for there may be accidents that cause a wholesale loss of life.

A decided decline in the birth-rate is prophesied and marriages will not be numerous. Divorces, however, will multiply, if the stars are to be believed.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a fairly fortunate year in business. Special good luck attends those born late in the afternoon or in the evening.

Children born on this day probably will be talented and conscious of power. These subjects of Leo who are difficult to train are generally successful all through life.

Today's Poem

"IF SPIRITS WALK"
If spirits walk, love, when the night climbs slow
The slant footpath where we were wont to go,
Be sure that I will take the selfsame way
To the hill-crest, and shoreward, down the gray,
Sheer, graveled slope, where vetches straggling grow.

Look for me not when gusts of winter blow,
When at thy pane beat hands of sleet and snow:
I would not come thy dear eyes to affray,
If spirits walk.

But when, in June, the pines are whispering low,
And when their breath plays with thy bright hair so
As some one's fingers once were used to play—
That hour when birds leave song, and children pray,
Keep the old rite, sweetheart, and thou shalt know
If spirits walk.
—Sophie Jewett.

Who's Who

The world-wide venerated literature, Don Miguel de Unamuno, has won his release from exile after six months at Puerto Cabras in the Isle of Fuerteventura.

The poet philosopher, rector of Salamanca university, was exiled by the Spanish dictator, Captain-General Primo Rivera, for criticizing his regime.

From this barren isle, which lies off the northwest coast of Africa and forms a unit of the Canary Isles, Don Miguel was in the habit of sending forth to the outside world violent protests against the cavalier manner in which Primo had treated him, and aroused support from fellow literary men in Great Britain, Portugal, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and the United States.

Then news came from Paris that Unamuno had been rescued by Le Quotidien, Paris Radical journal, which had fitted up a ship to go to Fuerteventura. After an adventurous voyage the ship, under command of M. Henri Dumay, director of the Progres Civique, arrived at its destination and effected, under terrible risks, the rescue.

The question rose as to whether Don Miguel escaped before the amnesty was granted or whether he left after being notified of his liberty, as the Spanish government declared he was. Le Quotidien declared, however, that the exiled man was rescued before the glad news was conveyed to him.

Anyway, the poet-philosopher is free, is going to Paris there to work "among the free men of France for light and liberty."

Don Miguel de Unamuno was born nearly 60 years ago and is a scion of an old Basque family. The Basques speak a language foreign to Spaniards; they are passionately fond of freedom and independence.

Don Miguel is neither a great student nor a great critic of philosophy, but is, himself, a philosopher dealing with his own material—"naked humanity and its secret passions and hidden dreams, its obscure gropings and faltering hopes." Probably his greatest work is Del Sentimiento Tragico de la Vida. In 1912, even King Alfonso spoke of him as "my friend Unamuno."

The Ravings Of a Grouch

The world is full of people who live more or less uninteresting or humdrum lives. None of us are so unselfish but that what we do is more important and more interesting to us than what others do, the efforts of some to pry into other people's business notwithstanding. But when we ordinary people get the idea that our acts and our travels and our diet are of real interest to others we have lost our sense of values and made ourselves horsemens.

Unless, of course, we have really done great things. I have had some rather interesting and unusual experiences in my life; there was a time in my palmer days when I traveled quite extensively, but I flatter myself that I have learned not to inflict my personal reminiscences upon my friends, for, though interesting and of great moment to me, they do not vary greatly from the experiences of many others.

A good listener is always popular, it is said, especially one who is attentive while we talk of ourselves, but I do not aspire to popularity at the expense of being compelled to listen to the fellow who buttonholes me and launches at once into autobiography. I always try to see this fellow first.

"The world is so full of a number of things," as the poet said, and it seems to me it ought not to be difficult to find something to talk about more interesting than what I have done, where I have gone, what I have eaten.

On the other hand, there is nothing so interesting to me as to read the biography of one who has really achieved greatness. Nothing so inspires me as the story of him who has won fame by his own efforts and against great odds. I love love of biography is, I think, one of the things that keeps me humble and compels me to refrain from imposing upon my acquaintances with tales of my own, petty, personal affairs.

If some of our ordinary people, those who take such an interest in themselves to the exclusion of other topics, would turn to the lives of great men they might lose some of their self-esteem—but that would be fatal, for without that they would be poor, indeed.

Great things are being done today, improved transportation is shortening distances, wonderful changes are taking place, due to man's ingenuity. So one must do something exceptional if a record of his acts, his efforts, his travels, his accomplishments and his diet is to be interesting.

I do not mean to say that I am not interested in my friends or that they are not interested in me, up to a certain point. It is the fellow who is a big Capital I that I am grousing about.

HERTZ TO GRANT MUSIC REQUESTS

Hollywood Bowl Orchestra to Play Numbers Sought By Many Patrons

Patrons of the Hollywood Bowl summer concerts who have written letters to Hertz, conductor of the Bowl Symphony orchestra, requesting certain numbers to be played, are to have their wishes fulfilled next week, for Mr. Hertz has programmed a great many of these requests during the next four concerts. The greater number of requests have been for the "Pathetique Symphony" and the "Nutcracker Suite," by Tchaikowsky, so an all-Tchaikowsky night will be observed next Thursday. Vilma Erenyi, soloist, is a very successful young Hungarian artist, full of the fire and personality of her race.

Louis Graveure, soloist for Tuesday, is one of the most eminent harpists in this country, and has chosen two well liked solos, "To The Evening Star" from Tannhauser, and the Toccata Song from "Carmen."

Screen stars coming Screen stars whose fame has spread around the globe will be present at the Friday concert, which is designated as "Hollywood Night." Many motion picture personalities are deeply interested in this form of outdoor music, and occupy their boxes throughout the summer. On this occasion they will join with the townsfolk in rejoicing over the big success of this gigantic "democratic art" movement which has grown in the midst of the film community.

Marjorie Dodge, soloist for "Hollywood Night," is an opera singer from the east, and has put short a successful recital tour in order to sing at the bowl. Every musical taste will be pleased with the Saturday concert—the most "popular" of any this season in the bowl. Ten numbers of short but exquisite character will be played by the orchestra of 100 artists, under Hertz. The "tired business man" will find as restful an enjoyment of the Beethoven Minuet, the Lullaby "Music Box" and the "Beautiful blue Danube," and others, as will the ardent music lover.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor:—I have reduced to normal, but I find my neck is bony, chest is flat and my breast is saggy.—Mrs. G.

You have a world of trouble, haven't you, Mrs. G.? But, perhaps you can comfort yourself with the thought that these troubles are not so great as the troubles arising from overweight might be.

Did you reduce too rapidly? Did you take any special neck and chest exercises? You should not be bony if you are normal weight. When one is normal weight, there is a goodly covering of fat on the bones. It may be that your weight is poorly distributed. You should pay particular attention to these fatty parts by exercising and massage. I think if you will do this that when you are on your maintenance diet, you will plump out in the parts where you need plumping.

S. L. R.—You have what is known as infantilis, and that is due to the disturbance of the internal secretory glands. Sometimes, in cases such as yours, the thymus gland continues to persist. The thymus gland is a gland which usually disappears before 14 or 15 years of age. (We have an article on this.) If this is true in your case, it may be possible that X-ray treatment will be of help to you. You should consult a physician who specializes along this line, since the taking of glandular tablets is not without danger if not supervised. No external applications will be of any avail.

Ring up the county medical society in your city and ask it to refer you to an internist; that is, one who specializes in diagnosing and treating diseases of the body that do not require surgery. I'll be glad to hear from you again. I can appreciate the thought that you may never experience the happiness of a home would make you very unhappy.

C. N.—Permanent freckles can be removed only by peeling off the skin, and, if this is done, it should be in the hands of a skillful dermatologist (skin specialist). You are auburn haired, and that makes you more susceptible to freckles. Be careful not to expose yourself to the bright rays of the sun.

Mrs. A. S.—When you reduce that fifty pounds which you acknowledge you are carrying in excess, you will undoubtedly be very much improved. You sent for the reducing pamphlet when you wrote. By the time this answer appears I will expect another letter from you telling me how much you have lost and how much better you feel.

Anxious V.—Go to your mother with your trouble and have her take you to a physician. Confide in her absolutely.

Mrs. X.—"Harsh punishment should never have a part in the upbringing of a child, because he knows nothing right or wrong. A child follows his natural inclinations and it is the duty of the mother to guide him along the right way. A child that is often punished becomes sullen and morose as he grows older."—Federal Children's Bureau.

L.—Yes, severe sunburn can cause chills, fever and severe general symptoms, just as burns from fire or chemicals. On going to the beach for the first trip, do not expose any part of the body for a long period. You can gradually extend the time of exposure as the skin tans. The same precautions have to be taken when taking the sun cure.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining weight is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate your letters to me in care of this paper. I will be glad to hear from you again. I can appreciate the thought that you may never experience the happiness of a home would make you very unhappy.

Alleged Speeder Pleads Own Case

cers making arrests shall be admissible as evidence in any court, they must be in plain sight on or actually patrolling the street on which the arrest is made. The officers testified that they stood by their motorcycles in plain sight within ten feet of the pavement, and that Mr. Warner deliberately passed before them at the rate of speed of 41 miles an hour. On the other hand, Warner and Clark testified that the officers were not on the road in plain sight and must have been in hiding, and that at no time was the car driven at a rate of speed greater than 32 miles an hour.

The first point at issue, as to whether the evidence of officers not in plain sight on the highway could be admitted was not ruled on by the court and the jury returned its verdict solely on the evidence as to the actual rate of speed of the car, and returning a unanimous verdict in favor of Warner. The case was prosecuted on the part of the city by Assistant City Attorney Tarr.

Councilman Gilhuly May Be Fire Fighter

Councilman S. S. Gilhuly may be spending his vacation fighting forest fires, judging from a letter written August 7 to his business partner, G. O. Russell, of Gilhuly & Russell, realtors, 212 South Brand boulevard. The letter is written from Billy Creek camp, Huntington lake, near Big Creek, and was received this morning.

"We are camping on the edge of the lake, 7200 feet above sea level," the letter says. "We got stalled on a 19 per cent grade Sunday night (August 3) and had to send for a tow car."

"I don't know what will happen to us, as a forest fire has broken out about ten miles from here, and is beyond control. I may be drafted to fight it before night, as they have already taken 300 men from this vicinity so far today and it is now only 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon."

"I wish you would send me all copies of The Glendale Evening News, beginning Saturday, August 2, and ask A. T. Cowan to have forwarded to me the copy that goes to my home daily, up to and including Wednesday, August 13. I don't like to miss any Glendale scandal."

"We can be reached by wiring Huntington lake, in care of Billy Creek camp."

Councilman and Mrs. Gilhuly and their two daughters left Glendale by motor last Saturday on a two weeks' camping trip. They are expected back in Glendale Sunday, August 17.

Classified Ads Bring Business to Realtors

"We find the summer business increasing from month to month," declared L. A. Hart, of the Hart Realty company, 205 West Broadway, "and we can trace a great deal of our business to the use of the want-ad columns of The Glendale Evening News. Our most valued clients have been located through The Glendale Evening News. They are local investors looking for investments within the city."

"Our business has always been to avoid the use of unique phrases and catch-words in our advertisements, and we find that straight advertising produces results. We have used the columns of The Glendale Evening News for the past four years."

"Our business for July, according to the figures prepared by my partner, W. H. Barnes, amounted to $37,750. For June, the business amounted to $37,675. While the gain was not large, it was unexpected, as July is generally a quiet month."

The Glendale Canadian club meeting Thursday night, in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard, heard a talk by Mr. Metcalf of the Los Angeles Skating association. Later luncheon was served and dancing and cards enjoyed.

WHAT THE HEADLIGHT LAW MEANS TO THE MOTORIST

By THE L. A. COUNTY MOTOR PATROL

Capt. W. F. Cannon, Commanding

THE Los Angeles County Motor Patrol Department has always been deeply interested in any movement that would help to prevent an increase of accidents on the highways, such as daily occur from various causes, and is satisfied that every motorist will agree that drastic steps should be taken to make the highways safe at night. It is with this thought in mind that we are enforcing the State headlight requirements in Los Angeles County and with your co-operation we hope to be successful in this safety movement to the extent that our highways will be safe for all the public.

Statistics show an appalling loss of life, limb and property directly caused by improperly adjusted headlights which, in most cases, are the results of carelessness on the part of motorists through the little care that is given the headlamp equipment.

Give the same care to your headlights as you do to the air in your tires, or the oil in the engine, and occasionally go to one of the official headlight stations and inspect your own lights on the chart, making sure you are within the law.

Do not misjudge the true intent of the certificate issued by Official Headlight Stations. This certificate only shows that at the time stated on the face thereof your headlights were properly adjusted. You must continually watch your lights yourself so that any maladjustment due to vibration or collision can be immediately corrected. Any authorized headlight station will gladly permit you to use their chart to make these observations without charge.

We have provided a system of authorized headlight adjusting stations, all of which are thoroughly familiar with the law requirements, and a complete list of these is herewith furnished for your convenience.

These stations have been schooled on the work of adjusting headlights and we expect this work to be handled in a first class, workmanlike manner. Any complaint, particularly where inattention or discourteous treatment is evident, should be reported in writing immediately to this office.

The recommended fee for this work is 75 cents.

U. S. BOXER DEFEATS BRITON

GIBBONS WINS IN THIRD, KNOCKOUT

Bloomfield Proves Easy for St. Paul Heavyweight In London Bout

By HARRY FLORY
For International News Service.
WEMBLEY STADIUM, LONDON, Aug. 9.—Tom Gibbons, American light heavyweight, beat Jack Bloomfield of England, winning by a knockout in the third round. He twice floored the husky Briton.

Gibbons was a 5-to-2 favorite over Bloomfield. The two fighters were at the ringside at 3 o'clock, one hour before the time scheduled for the battle to begin. They were interested spectators of the preliminaries.

The great stadium, which will seat more than 125,000 persons, was comfortably filled despite the intense heat.

Fight By Rounds
The fight began shortly after 5 o'clock.

Round 1.—They clinched. Immediately Gibbons started a series of right jabs. Gibbons forced the fighting. Bloomfield countered to the body, but did not hurt the American. Bloomfield was holding on. Both exchanged punches.

Gibbons landed strong right jabs. Bloomfield tried to ward them off. Bloomfield was floored, taking the count of nine. Gibbons' round.

Round 2.—Gibbons rushed at Bloomfield, and the Englishman began holding. Gibbons shook him off and landed a terrific right hook on the jaw. The blow knocked Bloomfield through the ropes. Bloomfield tried desperately to get up, but could not. He was lifted back into the ring. The bell saved Bloomfield. Gibbons' round.

Round 3.—The first blow landed by Gibbons caught Bloomfield on the chin. He was counted out.

From the first it was clear the American was determined. Bloomfield was crude, but showed considerable skill in warding off Gibbons' powerful right jabs.

Two Blows On Chin
In the second round Bloomfield took two terrific wallop, and was through the ropes, almost helpless, when the bell saved him.

The great crowd—almost 100,000 persons—cheered Gibbons. It was a typically impartial and sporting British assembly. When Bloomfield came up for the third round, it was seen that he was groggy and almost helpless, and the crowd began to shout to referee Eugene Corri to stop the fight.

Three-Mile Swim In Ocean Set for Sunday

T. E. McNulty, 65 years old, vice-president of the Dolphin Club of Santa Monica to Venice, a distance of more than three miles, tomorrow. He will start off the Santa Monica pier at 11 o'clock, and his progress will be watched by a large crowd of people.

McNulty swam this course a month ago in an hour and twenty-five minutes, and he hopes to cut this down by ten minutes or more. He has made the Golden Gate swim five times, four times since his sixtieth birthday. His time approaches the Golden Gate record.

The Athletics took their third straight game from the Browns, 9 to 5.

QUESTION—Two are out and runners on third and second bases. Batter hits the ball, which is fielded to third base and the third baseman tags the runner coming from second, making three out. Runner from third crosses the plate before the out is made. Does the run count?
ANSWER—The run counts because the batter reached first in safety so far as the description of the play implies.

QUESTION—Runner was on first base. Batter tipped the third strike. Catcher caught the ball under his chest protector. Was the batter out? The umpire said he was not.
ANSWER—The umpire was right. A ball caught in the chest protector is not out. The catcher must dislodge the ball and make the play to first base.

QUESTION—Batter has two strikes and one ball and swings on a curve ball that glances him on the knee and rolls fair. Ball is played to first base.
ANSWER—If the batter was in the batter's box when the ball hit him it was a foul hit.

QUESTION—Bases are all occupied. While the pitcher is winding up the ball slips out of his hand. Is it a ball or a balk?
ANSWER—It is a balk.

Babe Herman Wins In Portland Bout Easily

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 9.—Babe Herman, of Sacramento, boxer and puncher combined, easily won a ten-round decision from Joe Leopold of Oakland in the main event of a fine boxing card here last night. Herman found Leopold wide open and, ripping attack which was effective, Leopold slugged as best he could, but failed to stagger Herman at any time.

Frankie Grandetta, Hollywood's slick-haired boy, showed speed and hitting ability in his six-round draw with the veteran Billy Mascot.

Luis Firpo Improved As Training Started

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Luis Firpo appeared to be an improved boxer today, after mixing several rounds with his sparring partners. Bill Tate, who had things his own way in earlier workouts, was severely pummeled. Firpo has abandoned his style of launching wild swings from here, there and everywhere. The Argentinian is concentrating on short jolts to the body. Several of these blows shook up Tate considerably.

Shade To Get Chance At Welterweight Belt

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Dave Shade, California welterweight, will meet the winner of the Walker-Leonard fight under a ruling of the boxing commission. Leonard, Walker and Shade must post a bond of $10,000 each with the commission in the next few days. The winner of the title fight on August 20 must take on Shade before the first of the year, the commission ruled, and cannot engage in other bouts in the meantime.

Rain postponed the Washington-Chicago game.

TILDEN ADDS TO LIST OF TITLES OAKS WIN EXTRA INNING CONTEST

Holds Over Thirty Now as Result of Court Work In Five Years
Tigers Take Short End of 8-7 Score; Angels Give Seals Drubbing

By LAWRENCE PERRY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Bill Tilden is headed this way for the big national tournaments, stopping here and there en route. His play in the west has added to the list of championships he holds, having triumphed in the clay court championships at St. Louis and won the Illinois championship among other victories.

Reckoning up the various trophies he has won, including four national singles, four national doubles on clay and so on through world's championships at Wimbledon, doubles and mixed doubles, championships of turf and clay and sectional titles, the count runs well over thirty titles.

Plays to Gallery
There never was a tennis king so great as Tilden, nor one who seemed less likely to be deposed by some rival. Yet it was only in 1919 that Tilden began to flash upon the court firmament.

He has all the temperamental vagaries of the genius. He will meet some opponent and be beaten as he was last year by Manuel Alonzo, or will be carried to five gruelling sets by some other player and then in the crucial tests these same players will be but toys to him.

It would appear that Tilden loves to get himself into holes, of the spectators as they lean forward in their seats prepared to watch his downfall. It is then he will rise to heights of surprising altitude and with ease and aplomb pull the match out of the fire.

Of all the players seen in action this year, Howard Kinsey seems the most likely to give the king a battle for his throne—at least the young Californian will be his match against Johnston at Seabright. It is almost futile to compare performances on a relative basis, but it does seem that Tilden has been playing Kinsey instead of Johnston the day at Seabright. Big Bill would have had his work cut out for him every minute.

The writer saw Johnston at Forest Hills and believes that the little Californian will at Newport show vast improvement over his form at Seabright. Johnston is proceeding with great care, is in splendid physical condition, and has not let the Seabright episode worry him one bit.

Promoters Ask Him to Meet Winner of Bloomfield-Gibbons Battle

By FAIRPLAY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—London promoters are getting on the job with a vengeance. They have cabled Ernie Spalla, asking his price for meeting the winner of the Bloomfield-Gibbons battle in London. Nick Kline, who is managing Spalla, sent word that it would cost $35,000 to produce his man in London.

When the Englishmen have recovered their breath they will cable a reply offering a smaller sum and the chances are that Kline will accept it, since Spalla wants to go over to Europe soon to arrange some bouts.

If Descamps will proceed carefully with that young French midweight, Bart Molinero, he will surely have an ace. The lad is as clean cut and good looking as ever Carpenter was, and he can hit like the mischief. He shows his fighting heart by the way he tears in when he is sure all he needs is some more experience of the sort he has had against Philby Krug in the two battles he has fought in this country.

Mourn For Sande
As for Krug, here is a young man who is well worth the attention of promoters throughout the country. Of German-Irish parentage, a fair hitter and extremely clever, Krug is qualified to make the best of the middleweights and welterweights.

The turf world is in real mourning today over the mishap to Earle Sande. It seems probable that even if that great jockey recovers he never will carry his saddle past the clerks of the scales again. Constant physical activity has been the price Sande has had to pay to enable him to fulfill his engagements, and that will be impossible while he is down with a fractured hip.

However, nobody will ever have to take up a purse for Sande. The premier American jockey, who proved against Papyrus and Steve Donoghue that he is the equal of any rider in the world, has always taken care of himself physically and financially, and it is probable that if the turf has lost him as a jockey it will retain him as a trainer and owner.

Names New Head for Veterans' Hospital
WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Director of the veterans' bureau Frank Hines, announced today the appointment of Colonel Frank E. Leslie as the new director of the veterans' hospital at Custer, Mich. Leslie was in charge of the veterans' hospital at Palo Alto, Cal. He is succeeded there by Dr. F. G. Borden.

Vernon Outfielder Is Released to Lincoln
Andy Bernard, youthful Vernon outfielder, who has been with the Tigers since spring, was released on option to the Lincoln, (Nebr.) team yesterday. Bill Essick stated that Bernard will probably be recalled next season. He said Bernard was a promising youngster, but believed the Coast League was a little too stiff for him without a year or two of experience.

Brazill to Remain at Post Rest of Season
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 9.—Frank Brazill, Beaver third baseman, will manage the Portland baseball team the rest of the present season. President William H. Klepper issued this announcement today, saying that Brazill had in-stilled new life into the club and that he deserved the opportunity to show what he can do. Brazill was appointed acting manager following the resignation of Bill Kenworthy last week.

Late rallies by the Cardinals fell short, as Brooklyn won a battle of homers, 11 to 9.

The Cubs beat the Braves, 10 to 7, by scoring three runs in the last two innings.

The Giants broke Cincinnati's winning streak, 8 to 3.

CHAPTER XXIII
Later, she slipped away with the tray, and left Dora and Craig alone together. She saw Craig move his chair, and Dora half-turn in hers; their faces were close together, and they talked for a long time.

Hilary straightened the kitchen, went into the sitting room and straightened it, too, before she sat down at the piano.

Italian books on the table—they would not need Italian now. And the map of Munich; they had amused themselves by making familiar the directions and the streets and squares. No use now.

And Dora's exercise book. Hilary began to play idly; and the exquisitely blending chords floated out into the walled garden, and made more magical still the magic hour that Dora and Craig were sharing.

Suddenly windows rattled; a door slammed, and the high tops of trees swung and tossed in violent agitation. Hilary ran to the door. The storm had not yet reached her sheltered garden, and Craig had his arm about Dora, and her head was upon his shoulder.

For one hard second Hilary stood still, watching them in the deep gloom. Then she called cheerfully:

"Children, come in!"

Craig told his father and mother a few days later, when he ran into town to lunch in the old family mansion in Madison Avenue. Rodney Spaulding, grizzled, thin, helpless in his wheeled chair, merely smiled and nodded. What his boy did always satisfied him.

Mrs. Spaulding was a magnificent person of sixty, gray-headed, stout, imposing. Her eyebrows were sternly black in a rather florid face, her eyes small, keen, and gray, her mouth heavy and faintly shaded with hair. She was an extremely clever, extremely sensible person, and she rather approved his decision than otherwise.

"I'm very glad it isn't Violet Vanderwort!" she said, ruffling her salad with her fork.

"There never was anything in that," Craig answered, flushing. "No, I know there wasn't," his mother said, briskly. "But let her alone."

"Your girl is musical, Craig?" his father asked, smiling.

"Oh, very—that's been all her life. Her mother was a professional musician; I don't suppose you ever heard of the name of Sabine Carpenter?"

"On the contrary!" Mrs.

Spaulding said, surprised. "I remember the name very well, and so do you, Rodney. Don't you remember when we were in Vienna, in the 'nineties, that a pretty French girl with that burned-red looking hair was married at the Embassy to a Boston man, a musician?" Collier—something Collier, of course! I hope your Dora has her mother's red hair, Craig."

"The sister has magnificent dark-red hair, ropes of it," Craig answered, "but Dora is fair. A soft sort of light brown hair, like—well, not gold, but awfully bright and soft."

"Bring 'em to lunch with us Thursday—Wednesday," his mother commanded. "Your father'll be downstairs. And don't go today without a present I have for you. Your grandmother's ring; it's old-fashioned, but she'll like it."

"Thanks, Mother," Craig said, gratefully, touching her firm, square hand.

"If she's what you say, you're very lucky," his mother said, emotionally. "I'm going to that charity thing this afternoon, your father may stay for a little while. Your friend Violet's sister dances—the divorced one. You might come and break the news to her gently."

"Thanks," Craig said, grinning. "I'm done with that lot. I think I'll go back to my girl!"

It was only a week later, a feverish, enchanting, unbelievable week for Dora, that Hilary found one morning in her mail a large envelope of frail foreign paper, addressed in a flowing hand, with enormous scrolled capitals and bright violet ink.

She opened it; it was from Kronski. He was coming to America in the autumn for a stay of several weeks; he would give concerts everywhere, and he hoped to see her and her Butterfly. During September he would have a New York studio, and "call the neighbors in," would they come to see him there?

Hilary read the letter, folded it, and sighed. She was alone at the breakfast table, on a bright hot shining morning; she felt in deep study over her untasted coffee.

Kronski, and the Amati, and the strange cities and strange languages that had made her future and Dora's for so many years—these were all faded like a dream now. Everything was changed; that dearly loved future that seemed to keep her father and mother still in their lives, and

"Why Men Leave Home" shows tonight for the last time at the tent theatre of Murphy's Comedians on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo. Opening Sunday night, "Tess of the Storm Country" will show for a week, announces J. A. Menard, manager. The curtain rises each night at 8 o'clock, he states.

The author of "Why Men Leave Home" is Avery Hopwood, one of the most successful of American playwrights. He makes marriage the subject of much choice humor, revealing the secret of why a man can be a grouch at home and a "regular dear" at the office.

All gone. All gone. What could she say to Kronski except that her sister was to be married in the fall, and was to go abroad with her husband? What could fame and wealth give Dora, whose days were one intoxicating round of glories and delights? Little Dora Collier had suddenly become an important person over-night; no mere vague promise of drudgery and possible success could appeal to Dora now.

"Butterfly," Hilary said, when her sister, looking like a sleepy doll, appeared in the doorway. "Here's a letter from Kronski. He'll be here in September—He'll be here for the wedding, then!" Dora commented, yawning.

"I wish you could do some work with him, or with someone, Butterfly."

"Dora was not listening; she buttered a roll.

"Oh, Hilary—what a time we had last night! I wish you had come! It is the most wonderful club you ever saw; chintzes and great fires, and such people! The music was horrible—jazz! I don't know why they like it—"

"But you will keep up your own music, dearest? Think—think what it meant to Mother."

Dora came about the table, climbed into her sister's lap, in a fashion she had never quite abandoned, and rested her soft little body against Hilary and her velvet cheek on Hilary's own. Her web of bright hair tumbled upon Hilary's shoulder.

"You old darling," Dora said, sleepily affectionate, "I'll do it for what it means to you! You and I will see Kronski, if it's on the wedding-day itself, and we'll work like tigers at whatever he says I must do!"

Dora Collier had been Dora Spaulding for more than two years when, on a certain December afternoon, Hilary Collier closed the little house in Moski Holly and climbed into the Spaulding motor-car, to be swept

Crop Returns to Be Larger During Year

ST. PAUL, Aug. 9.—President Ralph Budd of the Great Northern railway estimates that the farmers of the northwest will secure $200,000,000 more for their crops this year than in 1923, provided they are able to sell at prices now ruling in the markets.

into town for a long visit with her sister.

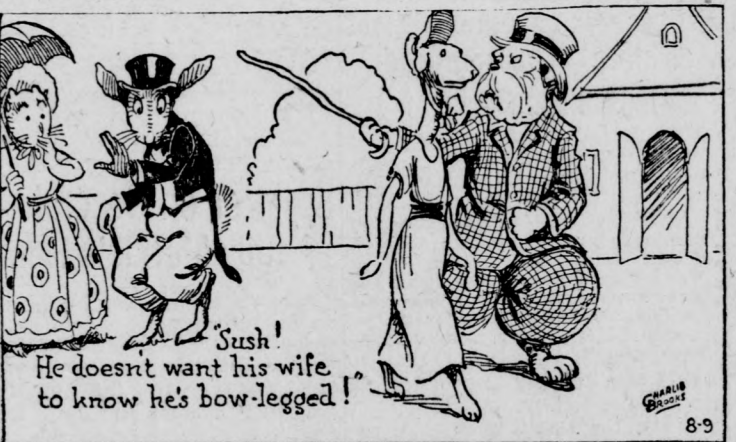

She had made short visits before; all sorts of visits. Sometimes the beautiful and radiant Butterfly had swept down upon her in Mount Holly, to envelop her in energetic little arms that were muffled in great furs, and to dazzle her with summer costumes worthy of a princess. And sometimes they had had Hilary for a few nights in the city house; she had visited them for two weeks in Southampton, in the first summer after their marriage, and last summer had made a tour with them through the wonderful New England mountains, and up to the Canadian lakes.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SWEET SOAP
Once upon a time Baby Bunty hopped over to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow.

"Please take me with you, adventuring!" begged the little rabbit girl. Uncle Wiggily looked at her.

"I can't," he said.

"Why not?" asked Bunty.

"Because your face and paws are so dirty," answered the rabbit uncle. "You must have been playing in the mud."

"I was!" laughed Baby Bunty. "I was making sand pies. But I'll go up in your bath room and wash myself," she promised. "Then when I'm nice and clean you'll take me with you; won't you?"

"Maybe," promised Uncle Wiggily, non-committal like and cautious, like a Scotchman giving a friend a match.

The little rabbit girl went upstairs. There was the sound of splashing water. Then Uncle Wiggily heard the sound of "thump-thump-thump!"

"I'm washed nice and clean!" she cried. "Now take me adventuring!"

Uncle Wiggily gave her one look and then he laughed and said:

"You didn't wash yourself clean," said Uncle Wiggily. "You skipped places behind your ears. Here, come to the bathroom with me and I'll wash you!"

The bunny gentleman took from a drawer in the bathroom a cake of pink soap.

"Oh, how nice and sweet that smells!" exclaimed Bunty. "It smells almost good enough to eat, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Soap isn't good to eat, no matter how nice it smells!" chuckled Mr. Longears. "Now please stand still, Bunty, while I wash behind your ears."

Uncle Wiggily wet the rag in warm water and rubbed on it some lather of the sweet smelling soap. Then he cleaned Bunty's ears and wrists. He was drying Bunty on the towel, and she was making funny faces when, all of a sudden, up the stairs crept the Bad old Bob Cat, bringing his silly little tail with him.

"I want to nibble your ears!" howled the Bob Cat to Uncle Wiggily.

The rabbit gentleman was much frightened. But Bunty picked up the cake of sweet soap and, holding it to the nose of the Bob Cat, she said:

"Smell of that!"

Sniff! Sniff! went the Bob Cat.

"Oh, what a lovely perfume!" he howled, wrinkling up his nose. "I guess that must be something good to eat. I'll take a few bites of that and then I'll nibble your ears, Uncle Wiggily. Give that to me!" he cried, most impolitely, and, still more rudely, he grabbed the soap from Bunty and greedily crammed it into his mouth.

He chewed and chewed and chewed—and then—all of a sudden—

"Wowzie! Scowzie! Scoot!" howled the Bob Cat as he found his mouth full of soap suds and lather. "Oh, what a taste! I'm going home!"

And, dripping foam and lather, out of the window jumped the Bob Cat with the taste of soap in his mouth.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—Plans were going forward here today for what is said to be the largest railroad merger in history, the absorption by Oris P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, owners of the Nickel Plate system, of four other railroad properties. The proposed consolidation, an outline of which became known today, involves $1,500,000,000 capital and nearly 11,000 miles of track.

The roads to be taken over by the Nickel Plate—the New York, Chicago & St. Louis—are the Erie, Pere Marquette, Chesapeake & Ohio and the Hocking Valley. The Wheeling and Lake Erie with the Pittsburgh and West Virginia may be taken in later, it was reported, although not mentioned in the preliminary announcement.

The consolidation, according to semi-official announcement, will be effected through exchange of stock and through leases of physical properties and is subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce commission.

BUYERS OF MARKS ARE CASHING IN

Profits of 46,566 Per Cent
In One Year Shown on Germany Currency

By ROWLAND WOOD
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Profits of 46,566 per cent in less than a year—

It's a shame to "break" this story just as Charles Ponzi, Boston's frenzied financier, has finished his first four years in durance vile and is facing further years in jail, all because he failed to make good on his promise of 100 per cent in three months.

But this story, unlike Mr. Ponzi's promises, is based on fact. And it must not be held up, despite the fact that it will make Ponzi—and his dupes—green with envy.

Cash In On Marks
Thousands of Americans and Canadians, who had more faith in the ultimate recovery of Germany than Germany had herself, today are cashing in at the rate of $1400 per million marks, on Imperial German war bonds, which they purchased as low as $3 per million. That's just 46,566 per cent profit—figure it out for yourself.

William Franz, of the bond department of Robert C. Mayer & Co., Broadway bankers and dealers in foreign exchange, today estimated the total face value of such bonds held in the United States and Canada roughly at $5,000,000,000 marks. The figures, he said, might run as high as $10,000,000,000.

These "scraps of paper" then, are today worth somewhere between $7,000,000 and $14,000,000.

Not all the holders of the bonds bought them as low as $3 per million marks. They have sold as high as $5000 per million. But relatively few were bought in at that price. At least 75 per cent of the outstanding supply Mr. Franz estimated, was bought at between $3 and $5—the low price reached last October and September, when the world became convinced that Germany, as a nation, was destined for the scrap heap.

Germany Is Buying
Today, Germany is clamoring to get them back. It is rumored that the German government itself is in the market for them, though this has not been confirmed. It is certain, however, that somebody in Germany wants them, and wants them bad.

The history of the old German government bonds parallels that of German paper marks and Russian rubles—save that it now appears to have a happy ending for the speculators who took a long flier in them.

Real buying of these issues started in the United States and Canada in 1921. At first they brought as much as $5000 per million. By 1923 the price slumped to $1000.

Finally, a year ago, when it appeared that Germany must either be broken up into separate states or swallowed up in bolshevism, the bottom dropped out of the market for bonds. The toboggan took them all the way to $3.

The recovery began with first indications of the possible success of the Dawes commission and a resultant loan to Germany. German citizens figured that before the government could get a loan it would have to take up the old bonds at some figure, just as German industrial concerns, seeking capital, valorized their old obligations at 15 per cent of their paper mark value.

By March the old government bonds had climbed painfully back to $50 per million marks. A month ago the price was $100. With the announcement that the plan had been finally accepted by the allies and that Germany was ready to accept it, the bonds skyrocketed.

Today a great stream of the once worthless securities is flowing into the hands of bond brokers here, to be sold in Germany. Profits of all the way from 700 to 46,566 per cent are being reaped. Man, oh man, wouldn't some of the future Ponzis like to get hold of a "sucker list" containing the names of the 46,566 purchasers? There ought to be some easy pickings in it for dealers in Wild Cat preferred.

Plan Power Plant to Aid Oregon Railroads

SEATTLE, Aug. 9.—The Puget Sound Power & Light company will construct at once a new power plant on Baker river at a cost of $3,000,000. This plant, which will be finished by November, 1925, will develop 60,000 horsepower. The company, which is a part of the Stone and Webster interests, will also add a 2000 horsepower annex to the plant at Tacoma at a cost of $1,000,000. The power product will be carried to Eastern Washington and Oregon for the use of electrically-equipped railroads and for industrial purposes.

Niagara Falls is to be lighted by submerged electric lamps.

Electric Glass Cleaner
A marvelous and thoroughly tested preparation for cleaning windows, mirrors, showcases, auto windshields, glass of any kind. Try it once and you will never be without it. A four-oz. bottle will last for months and we deliver any place in Glendale.

COMMENT That's All

Ethics Of Realtors
Safety Week Starts
Motor Law Arrests
Eagle Rock's Change
By Gil A. Cowan

A merry row has been started in Santa Barbara, which is the home for numerous attacks on officials.

Real estate men have taken the county farm adviser to task for telling an old couple they could not expect to make a living on a twenty-acre tract in the northern part of the county.

The Santa Barbara News defends the opinion given by the farm adviser because it was "the truth." On the other hand, no doubt, it would be possible for a specialist to till twenty acres, or ten acres for that matter, and make a living therefrom.

It was simply a case where the farm adviser had to say "yes" or "no" to people not fitted, perhaps, to make a success. He was dead right and it is too bad more people are not endowed with the honesty and integrity to say "no" when asked for advice.

Real estate men should not inveigle people into failure. The ethics of the profession call for something more than the mere selling of property. They should see that their clients' interests are protected not only today but tomorrow. There is a work of service, not simple bartering.

The California Real Estate association, a forward looking group of the most conscientious real estate brokers, has directed its attention to raising the standards of the profession. The local realty boards have adopted codes of ethics which are a credit to their membership.

And they will find their efforts will be rewarded by public confidence, which, after all, is the greatest thing to be attained in the business world. For, while a business may not be large, or overly profitable, the satisfaction of being honest and fair and thoughtful and courteous and serving well in whatever task is imposed upon you is an almost sacred spirit.

Safety week in Glendale beginning tomorrow should be the uppermost thought in the minds of every motorist. The educational value of learning and observing the rules of the road, not to forget, courtesy, will have a lasting effect.

But it should bring home to the community the necessity for traffic control. Automobiles are so numerous nowadays that it is vitally necessary for cities of 50,000 or more to have departments devoted particularly to the study and regulation of traffic.

Traffic is not a haphazard proposition. Neither is it to be regarded as a source of revenue, for the motorist pays taxes on his machine, license fees and a gasoline tax. In reality, car owners are triple taxed and the system of fines imposed on violators of regulations should be for the purpose of enforcing the law.

A motor expert whom the writer interviewed recently noted the fact that the municipalities in Los Angeles county make more arrests of drivers of motor vehicles than does the county squad of eighteen men who are patrolling the highways. And it is not because the latter are lax in their duty, either. Nor are they permitted to dispose of tickets, as is the habit some places. But when an apparent injustice would be worked the judge is so advised and he has the prerogative to drop the case without entry or suspend the sentence.

Judges are not and should not be collection agencies with a set of marked cards before them. Motor officers are not and should not be collectors, working on a scheduled number of arrests, or average, required by some of the superior officers.

Those are not the writer's conclusions, but the thought given out by a man who is conversant with the situation in Los Angeles county. He is not guessing, for he is in a position to know what is taking place. He declares that many communities maintain motor officers on the condition that they produce so much revenue.

It doesn't take an old-timer to remember the day when Eagle Rock was the bane of speeders. Every motion picture actor who passed through the city was tagged and dragged into court on some pretext or other, according to the open boasts of the officers on duty. A trap was maintained at a bridge in the eastern section of the city that could not be avoided and many a wreck occurred when motorists threw on their emergency brakes to avoid arrest for going over 15 miles an hour.

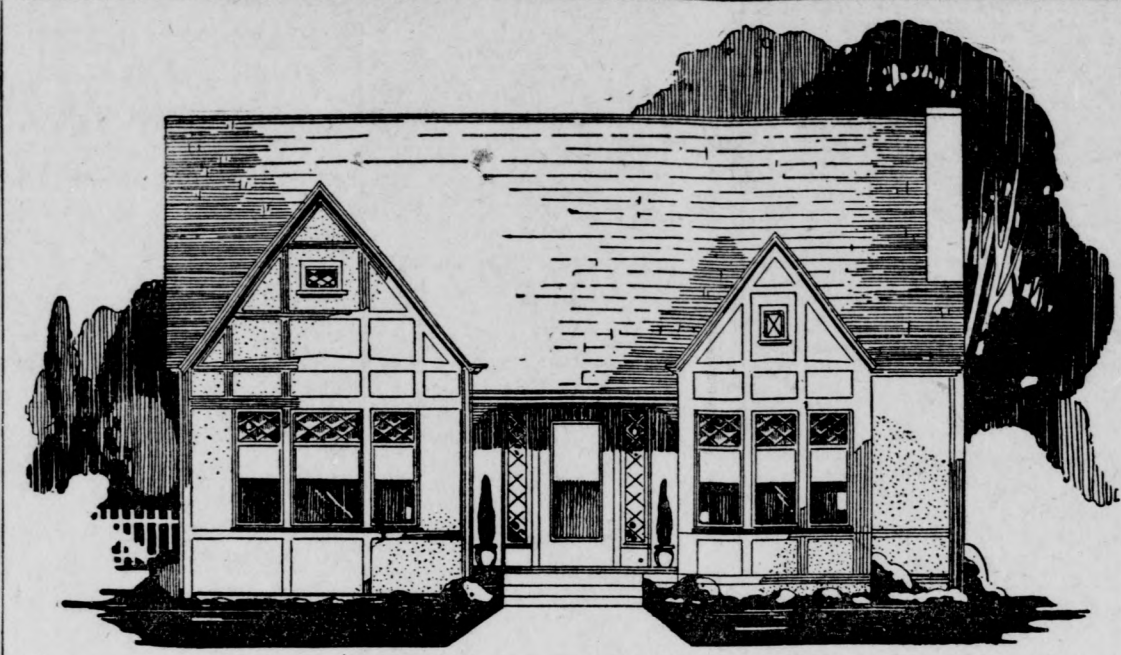

Since Eagle Rock became a part of Los Angeles that bridge has seen no accidents to speak of. Eagle Rock has become safe for the motorist and pedestrian as well with an occasional visit by motor officers to keep the public reminded that speed laws are to be observed.

Other such instances in Southern California could be mentioned. No doubt one could draw morals from Glendale, but present company is always excepted in critical discussions.

Burglars Fail to Find Any Valuables
The home of Mrs. W. E. Courley at 430 West Colorado boulevard was ransacked by burglars yesterday afternoon but investigation by the police failed to reveal anything missing.

Value of Home Ownership

The plan shown below is furnished by the Bentley Lumber company of 460 West Los Feliz road and is one of hundreds on display at the company's offices. The organization offers free building information and plans to customers.

A typical English bungalow home of such rare distinctiveness as to make it unusual in the extreme. Its general exterior design and arrangement shows the great care which has been given in executing the plans, not one detail has been overlooked that would add to its attractiveness and make it practical and substantial.

The same competent thought and efforts are incorporated into the well arranged and conveniently grouped rooms, and surely a plan embodying so many popular and practical features cannot help but make strong appeals and create desires for a home to be built from these complete detailed plans.

PREPARES PLANS ON PACOIMA DAM

Flood Control Program Will Start With $1,720,000
Valley Project

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southern News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—The opening gun in the $35,300,000 flood control program will be fired by the Los Angeles county board of supervisors next Monday, it is predicted by Edward T. Bishop, county counsel, who is preparing plans and specifications for the calling of bids on the Pacoima dam project which in itself represents an estimated expenditure of $1,720,000.

Attorney Bishop feels sure the plans will be finally approved and advertisements calling for bids ordered by the board which marks a start after the passage and sale of the bonds for the effective handling of the water conservation and flood problems in various parts of the county.

Goethals in Charge

Major General George W. Goethals of Panama canal fame will be the supervising engineer, while Chief Engineer J. W. Reagan will have the pleasure of seeing his plans carried to completion not alone in the San Fernando valley, but in the San Gabriel and other flood areas.

The Pacoima dam will be the highest angle arch structure of its kind in the world, over 400 feet in height, located in the Pacoima canyon in what is known as the "narrows," four miles east and a little north of the city of San Fernando. It will be of great benefit to the Van Nuys section, as well as controlling the floods of Los Angeles river sweeping down through the valley to the ocean, which have been disastrous in past years.

Improve Channel

With the completion of the Pacoima dam it will be possible to strengthen and straighten the Los Angeles river channel, which in turn will permit of the completion of Riverside drive, one of the great highway projects now pending in the county.

Plans now are being prepared for the San Gabriel canyon dam and other projects, according to Engineer Reagan, who is accredited with having put over the biggest program of conservation ever attempted in the southwest. Not only will the floods be controlled, but the water level of the agricultural districts will be raised and storage afforded by inundating thousands of acres of mountainous areas, which will create new beauty spots with living streams of water flowing the year around.

WORTHLESS CHECKS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—Although he is said to be wanted in scores of cities for passing $30,000 worth of worthless checks, Thomas T. Chatburn, under arrest here today, will be tried in Los Angeles, where authorities claimed he passed more than $5000 in bad checks.

News Want-Ads Bring Results

CROP SEIZED IN MARIHUANA RAID

Oxnard Rancher Arrested as Narcotic Squad Bales
$15,000 Harvest

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—State Narcotic Inspector Richard Earl has been away from his office in the Pacific Finance building for several days. His mission was very important, according to the stenographer in charge.

Today Mr. Earl returned. He had been at Oxnard where $15,000 worth of marihuana had been confiscated as it was growing in a camouflaged field fringed with corn.

Confiscate Crop
J. J. Merritt of 647 A street was arrested while cultivating his crop and Mr. Earl, assisted by local officers, harvested the vines, which look something like the tomato plant, and baled it up as evidence.

This is the first seizure of marihuana in a general drive to clean up the increasing use of doped cigarettes which are being sold cheaply in Los Angeles, according to the state inspector.

Marihuana is a favorite dope with Mexican laborers, but the habit has spread to the criminal class and several recent shootings in southern California are attributed to the potent poison which drives the users "loco."

Hunt Other Growths

Other fields in Ventura county are being traced while it is known that the weed is grown in the Pomona valley near Los Angeles. It is brought to the city by vegetable men, just as the opium poppies are illegally transported by oriental truck gardeners.

Of the two, marihuana is considered much more dangerous. While opium acts subtly and stupefies its victim, the other causes crazy antics and a desire to fight. It also leaves the user physically weakened and mentally sick, according to the inspector.

No Shortage of Coal, Dealers' Prediction

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9.—Local wholesale and retail coal dealers say there is no possibility of a shortage this winter. Kansas City is well supplied and prices give evidence of stability.

Bus Crashes Into Eaves of P. E. Depot

The Pasadena and Ocean Park bus crashed into the eaves of the Pacific Electric bus station at Brand boulevard and Lomita yesterday shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday, slightly damaging the station.

To stimulate interest in better roads, the president of San Salvador has presented an automobile to the governor of each state and stipulated that he must make a regular report regarding the roads in his territory.

PONZI FINANCIAL WIZARD, RELEASED

Spent Four Years in Prison
Near Boston; Now Faces
Other Sentences

By EDMUND HART
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
BOSTON, Aug. 9.—It was with something like a sigh of regret that Charles Ponzi, Boston's most famous and then the most notorious financier, emerged from Plymouth jail, where he has spent the last four years paying the penalty for using the mails to defraud thousands of get-rich-quick investors out of some five million dollars.

In Plymouth jail, the little "wizard" has enjoyed many privileges by courtesy of the jailer, with whom he quickly became a favorite. The jail is one of the finest in the country and from his cell, Ponzi commanded a magnificent view of Plymouth harbor. Almost at his feet was the historic landing place of the Pilgrim fathers.

From today on, the future stretches out dark for Ponzi. In the first place, the fortune he had piled up for himself has been swept away and returned to his investors as part payment of their losses on their flier in "foreign postal coupons." Ponzi is—or says he is—stripped as clean of funds as he was when he landed, a poor immigrant to America. In the second place, Ponzi can see nothing but courtroom doors ahead, with perhaps another jail in the offing—and it may not be the comfortable Plymouth jail. The little Napoleon of finance still has to face a ten-count indictment in the state courts, now that he has settled with Uncle Sam, and the storm that he stirred up in the financial world still is reverberating through the civil courts.

Taken Before Court
Released from Plymouth jail, Ponzi was to be taken immediately to court, where it was to be determined whether the bondsmen he offered were satisfactory to the court, or whether he would have to languish in another jail, pending trial in the state courts.

When Ponzi's financial bubble burst back in 1920, it shook the foundations of many Boston families and amazed the entire country. It sent five trust companies crashing to ruin and brought misery to tens of thousands of dupes who had rushed to Ponzi with their life savings.

The little Italian financier lived like a king while the going was good. He brought his aged mother from Italy and set himself up in a mansion in one of the exclusive suburbs of Boston. He had motor cars, servants, valets and chauffeurs. He gave dinners and receptions. Money poured into his office so fast that it required several clerks to count it. Banks begged for the chance to become his favored depositories.

Money All Gone
No one ever has been able to fix definitely the sum that Ponzi handled in his brief, meteoric career. But those in a position to know place it at something like $5,000,000. Little of it ever found its way back to the investors. What he did with it has never been explained. About ten thousand of his investors received small sums from the receivers appointed by the court, but the bulk of the money had vanished. Five trust companies which closed their doors after the crash still are in the process of liquidation.

Since he went to jail, Ponzi's suburban mansion has been sold. His wife was obliged to seek employment to support herself. Ponzi's own plight is indicated by his offer to sell the story of his life to the highest newspaper bidder. But so far there have been no bidders.

Ponzi was a nine day wonder, but now there is none so poor to do him reverence—none, that is, save his faithful girl-like wife, who has stood loyally by him through all his troubles.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Aug. 9.—Departmental policies of the American Legion were expected to be carried out under the new officers elected by the annual convention on Thursday much along the same progressive lines that characterized the retiring administration, it was declared today as delegates left for their homes.

Nathan Coombs of Napa succeeds James F. Collins as department commander; Vern B. Fish of Red Bluff is first vice-commander; Dr. E. R. Fountain, Merced, second vice-commander, and Miss Jean Griffin, Pasadena, third vice-commander; James K. Fisk of Berkeley was re-elected adjutant.

Plan Church Day
The convention adopted a resolution expressing confidence in the policies of the retiring officers and condemning attacks made on them by certain papers. Selection of a national church day when all legion posts will attend church and offer support of the churches' Americanization program was voted in another resolution.
